Background

Natural disasters can cause land to become unusable for a long period of time. This policy addresses the issue of land that had been made unusable by a natural disaster.

Policy Objectives

To provide rating relief to the owners of properties that have become unusable as a result of a natural disaster, and where the loss of the use of the property will result in financial hardship to the owner.

Scope

This policy applies to both General Title and Māori Freehold Land.

Policy Statement

Council may grant a remission of rates on land that has become indefinitely unusable as a result of a natural disaster.

Conditions and criteria

- 1. The applicant must set out in detail the nature of the natural disaster that has caused the land to be unusable.
2. The application must outline the steps that the owner has taken, or will take, to return the land to a usable state.
3. The application must be supported by a report from a registered engineer or other similarly qualified expert setting out the reasons why the land has become, and will remain, unusable.
4. The maximum term for the remission of rates will be 5 years.
5. The applicant will be required to sign an agreement that any remission will be cancelled immediately if the land is returned to a usable state.
