

Photograph 1: Looking north eastwards from the dunes at the eastern end of Puwheke Beach

Photograph 2: Typical character of the dunes behind Puwheke Beach

Photograph 3: View from Puwheke informal carpark, westwards along Puwheke Beach with the coastal headland in the far distance

Photograph 4: Typical character of the coastline north of Rangiputa settlement

Photograph 5: Typical character of the informal parking area at the far eastern end of Puheke Road (adjacent the informal vehicular access to the beach)

Photograph 6: Typical character of wetland area in the eastern part of the site

Photograph 7: Typical character of the coastal outlook from the more open elevated land along the western side of the site

Photograph 8: Typical character of stream corridors in the low-lying parts of the site

Photograph 9: Close up view of rural shed and yards in the southwestern corner of the site, adjacent Rangiputa Road

Photograph 10: Rural shed / yards and flatter land in the southwestern corner of the site, adjacent Rangiputa Road

Photograph 11: Typical character of the existing Rangiputa settlement interface with the site

Photograph 12: Typical character of the coastal outlook from the more open elevated land along the western side of the site

Photograph 13: Typical character of the dune lakes

Photograph 14: Typical character of the remnant indigenous vegetation in the vicinity of the dune lakes

Photograph 15: Typical character of the neighbouring rural living lots to the west of the site (on headland)

Photograph 16: Typical character of the outlook from the coastal headland, looking eastwards along Puwheke Beach

Photograph 17: Typical character of the remnant indigenous vegetation in the vicinity of the dune lakes/hind dune area

Photograph 18: Typical character of the hind dune area at the eastern end of the site

Photograph 19: Visitors enjoying Puwheke Beach

Photograph 20: Typical character of the outlook from Puheke Road across pastoral land (outside the site) to the dune lakes

Photograph 21: Typical character of the coastal outlook from the airstrip area within the site

Photograph 22: Typical character of the coastal outlook from more elevated and open areas within the site

Photograph 23: Typical character of the outlook from Puheke Road across pastoral land (outside the site) to the dune lakes and Puwheke