Burial Advisory & Acknowledgement

FNDC Cemeteries

Purpose

This advisory is provided to ensure that families are fully informed of specific site conditions and potential challenges that may be experienced at cemeteries managed by the Far North District Council (FNDC) across the Northland Region. It also outlines the steps that FNDC staff and contractors may need to take in response to these conditions.

Site Conditions

Some cemeteries within the Far North District are located in areas with a high-water table, which can significantly affect burial plots—particularly during or following periods of wet weather or ground conditions that are unavoidable in northland. These conditions may result in:

- Water ingress into plots during or after excavation, despite the use of pumps and other mitigation measures.
- Ground instability, particularly in lower-lying sections of some cemeteries, which may cause adjacent soil or structures to shift or collapse.
- The need for last-minute changes to the burial plot location or depth to ensure safety and dignity.

These factors are beyond the control of FNDC and its contractors but are actively managed to minimise disruption to services.

FNDC and Contractor Actions

- Use water pumps to manage groundwater during excavation where required.
- Remove pumps prior to the service to avoid visual and noise disruption, understanding this may result in water refilling the grave.
- Apply measures to conceal water ingress, such as placing hay or other material at the base of the grave.
- Take immediate action to address any collapse or instability, including relocating the burial to an alternative plot if necessary.
- Work with the funeral director to promptly communicate any required changes to the family.
- All of the above may result in funeral director or family needing to make decisions and at times delay's to the funeral service, this is unfortunate but unavoidable due to the process needed to complete the requirements.

Acknowledgement

I/we acknowledge that FNDC, and/or relevant funder director, has explained the above conditions and potential challenges that may be experienced at cemeteries managed by FNDC in the Northland Region. I/we understand that FNDC staff and contractors will take all reasonable steps to ensure the burial is carried out with dignity and minimal disruption, but that circumstances beyond their control may require adjustments on the day.
